WESTERLY FAT MEN'S ASSOCIATION

To Have Thirty-third Annual Clambake—Death of Alonzo Harmon—Contents of Peddler's Cart Stolen—First Band Concert Announced.

Alonzo Harmon, for many years a resident of Westerly, who left here eight years ago to reside in Providence, died in that city Monday in his 76th year. He was engaged in farming for many years near Westerly and was later employed as driver of a delivery team. He united with the First Baptist church of Westerly twenty years ago and was a member to the time of his death. He was a member of Pawcatuck lodge, F. and A. M., and will be buried in River Bend cemetery in accordance with the Masonic ritual.

Mr. Harmon is survived by his widow, two sons, Clarence and Frederick of Providence, and two daughters. Arrangements are being closed for the thirty-third annual clambake of the Westerly Fat Men's association at Brightman's pond. The membership includes many residents of New London and Washington counties who have signified their intention to participate. The chief qualification for membership is that each applicant must weigh 200 pounds, more or less, but the weight calls for the weight to be at least 260 pounds. This fat men's association event, since its organization, thirty-three years ago, has never been interfered with by reason of rain. The committee of arrangements is composed of Daniel F. Stillman, Joseph V. Murphy and Henry Langbehn.

The officers are: J. H. Hill, president; Mr. Edwin H. Rogers, the largest man in the association, secretary; R. Court Benedict, secretary and treasurer; Nathan E. Noyes, chaplain.

Frank Bourdreau, recently honorably discharged from Battery C, First field artillery, U. S. A., has returned to his home in Westerly direct from Fort Bayard, New Mexico, where he has been in the hospital for the past three months, having been injured in a battle with the Indians at Fort Huachuca, several months ago, while Bourdreau and eleven comrades were on a bridge under orders to fight a prairie fire, the bridge collapsed and Bourdreau was injured. Symptoms of pulmonary tuberculosis developed soon after.

He is 25 years of age and discharged from the service by reason of physical disability. His discharge papers show faithful duty, and his character and service are given as excellent. Bourdreau's home is in the Anguilla section of Westerly, where his parents reside.

The strengthening of the railroad bridge, just west of the railway station, the repairing and painting of the passenger station and freight depot are taken as indications that the proposed railroad improvements in Westerly have been dropped for the present. Three years ago, nearly the town of Westerly appropriated $20,000 towards the elimination of the Canal street crossing in connection with the contemplated improvements, and that sum is still available for the purpose.

Morris Solovitzky leaves a barn in Coggeswell street and keeps his peddler wagon there at night. Monday the barn was entered by thieves and nearly all the contents of the wagon were stolen. He reports the loss of three pairs of wool blankets, four red flannel shirts, four red flannel drawers, eight undershirts, nine pairs lace curtains, two ladies' black coats, four black skirts and two pairs of portieres. Deputy Sheriff Casey is working on the case.

The cars on the Pawcatuck Valley railroad as run, it is claimed, rarely arrive or leave on schedule time. While this is a general inconvenience to the public, it is especially so to

CUREDITCHING HUMOR
Big, Painful Swellings Broke and Did Not Heal—Suffered 3 Years.

TORTURES YIELD TO CUTICURA
"Little black swellings were scattered over my face and neck and they would leave little black scars that would itch so I couldn't keep from scratching them. Larger swellings would appear and my face would stick to the sores. I went to a doctor, but the trouble only got worse. By this time it was all over my face and neck. It was so painful that I couldn't bear to lie on my back. The second doctor stopped the swellings, but when they broke the places would not heal. I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies and in less than a week some of the places were nearly well. I continued until I had used three sets, and now I am sound and well. The disease lasted three years. O. L. Wilson, Puryear, Tenn., Feb. 1908." Poster Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

those who depend upon the published schedule to make train connections. A Norwich man who spends the nights at Watch Hill, coming in the evening and leaving for Norwich early in the morning, says the service is unreliable and a public imposition.

Local Lions.
Willis Greene, assistant keeper at Point Judith lighthouse, was in Westerly Tuesday.

Miss Mabel Saunders, assistant in the town clerk's office, has returned from her vacation.

The first band concert of the season will be given by the Westerly band in Wilcox park this evening.

The New London Independents and Westerly league team will play a game of baseball in Westerly, Friday.

The present is the best season ever for Watch Hill hotels, and the several garages are taxed to capacity.

It is expected that the new schooner, the Rhode Island, will sail from Stonington, Saturday, for the south, to lead yellow pine lumber for Portland, Me.

The Rhode Island end of the iron fence of the Broad street bridge, which was broken by an automobile about two months ago, has not been repaired.

Sacred Trail, who has been encamped for the past two weeks on the Oak street baseball field, lectured on the history of the nation, the Massachusetts and Indian life in the West.

Rev. Bennett Miller of Hartford, representing the National Reform league, will speak on Civic and Current Reform, in the Methodist First and Calvary Baptist churches next Sunday.

The rifle team representing the Rhode Island national guard will start Monday for Camp Perry, at Port Clinton, Ohio, to participate in the national tournament of the regular and state military.

Owing to the absence of the water-gate cart, Dixon square and vicinity were dust ridden Tuesday. The business people in the section are demanding relief from the highway committee of the town council.

Mrs. John Parker, Jr., Miss Jennie Howland, Miss Lou Lusk, Miss Lillian Dwyer, Miss Fannie Parker, and Miss May Dwyer of Westerly are attending the Epworth league institute at the Williamsburg camp ground.

The Altar Boys' baseball team and the Quarry Hill Heavy Hitters played a game Tuesday in the Vose lot, the former winning by a score of 6 to 5.

A feature of the game was the pitching by Flynn. The batteries were: Altar Boys, Flynn and Robertson; Q. H. H. H. Farrell, Healy, Smith, Rhodes and Owens.

MILK FOR MESS.
Captain Goss and Lieutenant Deming to Carry Cow to Battleground.

The desire of Capt. Chauncey P. Goss, Jr., and Dudley B. Deming of the staff of Col. James Geddes, who will command the Connecticut troops when they will participate in the war maneuvers in Massachusetts next week, to have fresh milk all the time, is making great sport for the guardsmen here. These two officers, it is said, will not trust to any farmer to provide them with lactated food, but instead will procure a cow, and either have her transported around with them while they are on the march, or else hire a cow in the different towns that they are in.

In speaking on the matter at the armory last evening, one of the other members of the staff said: "If Dr. Deming doesn't know how to milk the cow I guess she will have to go unmilked for I am too advanced in age to begin to learn now and I don't believe that any of the other officers will favor the idea either. I have never heard of Captain Goss milking and I am afraid that one of the features of his military training is missing. We are ready to drink the milk, for water will be a scarce article, but as for milking, oh, no!"—Waterbury Republican.

Action of New Haven Master Plumbers' Association.
At a meeting of the New Haven Master Plumbers' association, announced by Nelson M. Dingwell, their shops would be open for business, and that any one who wished to work, together with any one whom the master plumbers would sit to employ, might return to work. The masters by this only carry out what they promised from the start, which is that they would not yield to the journey men in the matter of apprentices. They are willing that all apprentices should be registered, but they do not propose to be confined to employ only such apprentices whom the union chooses to register.

BRIEF STATE NEWS
Avon.—The first real circus to visit Avon within the memory of the oldest inhabitant is scheduled for today (Wednesday).

West Hartford.—The school committee at a recent meeting reappointed W. H. Hall superintendent of schools for the ensuing year.

Middletown.—Rev. A. J. Ostling, who recently accepted a call to become pastor of the Swedish Congregational church in this city, has resigned.

Suffield.—The experiment of putting oil on the main roads to lay the dust has been a success, and more will be used in different parts of the town.

Meriden.—Richard Doolen, the oldest employee of the city or town, will on next Friday complete his forty-second year of service in the street department.

Danbury.—The annual state convention of the Sons of St. George of Connecticut was held in Danbury Tuesday under the auspices of Nelson lodge of Danbury.

Middlefield.—Passenger traffic is heavy on the Air Line and it is a week since one of the trains has had one or two extra coaches to accommodate the unusual patronage.

Wallingford.—A postcard received by C. B. Yale from Superintendent Marsh reports that the latter is in good health. He is now in France and will sail for home early in September.

New Hartford.—Patrick Bradley was drowned while swimming in Green pond Sunday afternoon. The body has been recovered and sent to the home at Turville. He was 23 years old and unmarried.

Stamford.—The Rev. James C. Griffin returned from his European trip Sunday. He was met at the pier by an automobile party and the journey to Stamford was made in about time. A formal reception had been arranged at the Lyceum theater, where Hon. Michael Kennedy made an address of welcome, presenting Father O'Brien a purse of $1,300 from parishioners and friends.

ANOTHER ROOSEVELT SHIPMENT
Of Selected Specimens to Leave Monday, August 16.

Naiyasha, British East Africa, Aug. 10.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his son Kermit, accompanied by Edmund Heller, the zoologist of the Roosevelt expedition; E. J. Cunningham, the British field naturalist, and Leslie A. Tarleton of Nairobi, left here at eight o'clock yesterday for Nyeri, a government station in the northwest of Kenya province.

Major Edgar A. Mearns and J. Alden Loring, the other members of the Roosevelt party, will leave here Wednesday for Nairobi, where they will prepare for an ascent of Mount Kenia, an extinct volcano to the north of Nairobi.

A second consignment of specimens selected by the expedition will be shipped to the United States on the steamer Admiral, which leaves Monday, August 16.

NEW LONDON WOMAN INJURED.
Mrs. George S. Morgan in Runaway Accident in Cambridge.

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 10.—Mrs. George S. Morgan of New London, Conn., was severely injured in a runaway accident here yesterday. Mrs. Morgan was driving with her mother, Mrs. Robert Henderson on Massachusetts avenue when the horses became frightened and ran for half a mile, at length throwing Mrs. Morgan out. She was taken to Cambridge hospital, where it was said that she will probably recover. Mrs. Morgan is the wife of a prominent physician in New London.

SUES GIRL'S FATHER.
He is Accused of Horsewhipping Her Caller.

One balmy evening last June Charles Conners, who lives on Baldwin street, went courting pretty Violet Dinkwell, who lives on the Pearl Lake road in South Waterbury. The courting was rudely interrupted by Nelson M. Dingwell, the girl's father, who used a horsewhip in the proceedings.

All this happened on the evening of Aug. 22, and was made Thursday, came to the city court, civil side, praying for $100 damages. Plaintiff did claim that on said evening said Nelson M. Dingwell did make a brutal, vicious, wanton and malicious assault on him.

Connecticut Feldspar.
A bulletin just issued by the geological survey on the production of feldspar in America in 1908, contains the following about this industry in Connecticut:

"The quantity of Connecticut feldspar placed on the market in the year 1908 was 2,888 short tons less than in 1907. The quantity marketed in the ground state, including abrasive feldspar, was 1,566 short tons less than in 1907. The product of the Eureka Mining and Operating company's quarries is reckoned as marketed in the crude state, as the milling branch of the concern at Trenton, N. J., is incorporated under a different name (Eureka Flint & Spar Co.). The Consolidated Feldspar Co. reported the purchase of property for joining its own at White Rocks from the Middlesex Feldspar company. The Eureka Mining and Operating company reported the purchase of a new quarry in the town of Chatham, Middlesex county, close to the Connecticut river, for the production of feldspar for the pottery trade reported decreased production and unfavorable market conditions."

PERSONS TALKED ABOUT
Mrs. Georgiana Buckley of Montross, Col., is one of the largest pressed brick manufacturers in the west. She is a widow and is her own manager.

Edwin D. Mead of Boston was one of the American former students of the university of Leipzig who participated in the 50th anniversary celebration last week.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, whose aeroplane was wrecked in Canada the other day, after several successful short flights, has been an advocate of the tetrahedral principle, which has been employed with such notable success in kite construction.

The full name of the pretender to the Spanish throne, who died a few days ago, was Charles Maria de los Dolores Juan Isidore Josef Rafael Quirin Antonio Michel Gabriel Rafael Prince de Borbone, and he carried it sixty-one years.

Martin W. Littlejohn, who defended Thaw and saved him from the electric chair, is quoted by the Brooklyn Eagle as saying that White's slayer was released because the judge had not sentenced him to a Tenderloin restaurant instead of Matceawan.

Henry Mitchell, celebrated as engraver of seals, medals and coats of arms, died at his home in Chelsea, in his seventy-fourth year, as the result of injuries received by a fall in visiting the savings bank, in which he was a director, after the fire last year.

The Boston Herald's Washington correspondent hears that the cause of the failure of Representative Frederick D. Gillett of the Springfield district, to vote on the tariff bill, was absent-mindedness. "They declare," he reports, "Mr. Gillett became interested in a novel and was reading in a nearby room."

As a memorial to his son, Oscar, who died recently, Baron Albert de Rothschild of Vienna, gave to the Jewish community of that city the sum of 10,000 kronen and a like sum to the municipal government, the amount to be applied to charitable work. He gave also 200,000 kronen for educational purposes, in the department of mathematics and astronomy.

The duke of Norfolk is undergoing investigation by a parliamentary committee for transgressing the rule which forbids peers of the realm from interfering in parliamentary elections. He recently sent an unsigned letter to the conservative candidate expressing hope for his election on the ground that he was known to be loyal to the sectarian schools.
